

President, Clemence S. Lozier, M.D., New York
Vice Pres. Lucretia Mott, Philadelphia, Pa.
Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Tenatly, N.J.
Chair. Ex. Com., Susan B. Anthony, Rochester, N.Y.
Cor. Sec., Isabella Beecher Hooker, Hartford, Ct.
Treas., Ellen Clarke Sargent, Washington, D.C.

Denver Col- Oct. 20th 1877

Dear Louise & Dannie

Aunt Mary wrote me, last saturday how sadly Louise's school & drawing lessons were broken into last week, by her severe cold - it was too bad - and then she wrote also how she went to Dancing School with Dannie and how micely he went through all the polite motions - How much like a gentlemen you will feel Dannie, When you learn how to do all Those things - I am very glad Aunt Mary decided to let you both learn to "trip the light fantastic toe" this winter - and he wrote me too, how much better grandma is - all of which comforted me ever so much -

Now, Dannie when is that promised letter to Aunt Susan coming - I hope it is getting written this very Saturday - or will be surely, tomorrow, - Tell me all about the nice boys you have got acquainted withe and which you think the best - - I hope My Nephew Dannie will be the best of the very best of them - - Louise, you must be more careful about taking more terrible colds! - are you sitting too close to a stove again - With an open window blowing down on the top of your head -? - If you have to recite in a cold room - always put on a shawl & cape - - does Dannie get any more colds-?- I wish I could look in upon you at No.7. this very minute & see how you all are doing - We must all of us try our best never to do a thing but what we shall be glad of after it is done - & be perfectly willing to have everybody know we did it. If we always just stop a minute & think about what we a going to do, we shall be saved from wrong or foolish things - Now both of you write to Aunt Susan & just run on & tell all about everybody & everythig - Mary Dobbin must write. She always tells lots of news - & that is what one likes when so far away from all one loves - affectionately

Your Aunt Susan B.