Dear Anna (Dann)

Your letter is splendid - I enjoyed your museum trip with you - & the obeleisk & all - Well drink it all in - go to he Head quarters & see Mrs. Catt - and take a look from her windows - I talk as if you had nothing but to go sight-seeing - I know you wont neglect a single thing there is to do - - Mrs. Harper has everything in such nice order that it is a great deal easier to do the work - Yesterday was -"holyday"- and Margaret walked in the procession for the fifth time - so she will be saved from the burning flames of hell - I suppose - She bakes just as good as ever - and eats just as much of it as ever - She doesn't seem to care for much else -, Nite, Mary went and got mutton chops for dinner - everything pretty,- but Margaret wouldn't eat meat on Friday -

Well - I think Mr. Mason will begin to think he won't hold his letters so long - Charlitte came running in this A. M. with yours to her - & to Nellie - they are all so different - Well dont waste time to write each one - a letter to one & to all - will do just as well - but I do want you to write your thoughts about everything you see - but write it so all can see it - Sister Mary took all three letters over to Mrs. Cook. She is so happy reading them - she is a great sufferer & I pity her - Sister Mary went Friday with Lillian Coleman last night - well be a good girl - & be happy -

Affectionately - Susan B. Anthony
