My dear friend:

The index with its corrections, which I presume are all right, is duly received. I have not had time to go over it, but, as I said before, trust its correctness entirely to you and Mrs. Harper. I have not had time to even look through Volume II. since it came, but I will dispatch all of your three packages, the two volumes and the index with their corrections, to Mrs. Harper to-day, and she will go through them and forward them to the Brown-Merrill Co. to be kept safely until our return.

She has of course written you that Winifred is to be married on June 14th, and that she, Mrs. Harper, is to sail for London on the 18th? Sister Mary sailed on Saturday morning, and I am just in receipt of a letter from niece Lucy saying that she saw her off in New York, and that she looked well and happy.

Mrs. Colby has been with us the last two days, and took the 6:45 train this morning for Washington.. I told her all about your capacity, not only as a stenographer and typewriter, but as sentence maker and fact hunter at libraries, and how very valuable you would be to a woman, like herself, running a newspaper, etc., etc.

Enclosed is your desired letter to Dr. Kate Jackson, Danville, N.Y. Your idea of making yourself useful at Dr. Jackson's is a good one. The Doctor is full of plain good sense as well as medical knowledge, and I am sure her advice to you for both your physical and mental welfare will be of the very best kind. I would say put in your application very soon, because they are already, without doubt, engaging their stenographers and typewriters, waitresses, etc., etc. for the summer. of course you can make yourself useful there on whatever
